COLLEGE.MONEY / PORTFOLIO REFERENCE

College.money

Education-loan discovery and application support for students planning overseas study.

LIVE PUBLIC INTERFACE / Abroad landing page and initial loan-discovery form.

PROJECT ATTRIBUTION

Priyam Sameer identifies College.money as his education-loan project in CashKaro's production environment. This attribution is user-provided.

The public footer visibly names CashKaro and Pouring Pounds India Limited.

AUDIENCE

Students seeking overseas education financing, with parents or other co-applicants supporting income and collateral requirements.

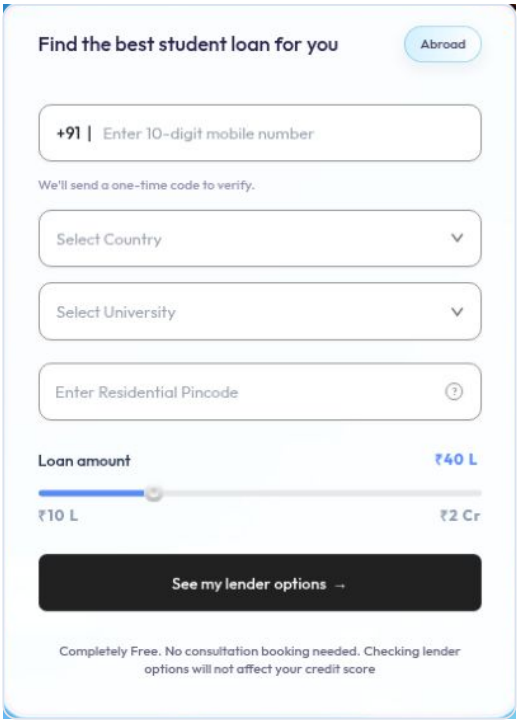

PRODUCT POSITIONING

An education-loan marketplace that compares lenders and describes a guided journey from discovery to disbursement.

The visible entry flow

The public form exposes the start of the journey. Later application stages are described by the website and were not inspected behind phone verification.

INSPECTED ON THE LIVE PAGE

Screenshot: form at entry, before any personal information was submitted.

INPUTS VISIBLE

Mobile number (+91)

Destination country

University

Residential pincode

Desired loan amount

The slider showed a ₹40 lakh default, with bounds of ₹10 lakh and ₹2 crore. The CTA reads “See my lender options”.

SELECTOR OBSERVATIONS

Country selector opened and United States was selected. University options were searchable and loaded after a brief initial empty state, including MIT, Stanford, Harvard and Caltech.

DESCRIBED BY THE WEBSITE / NOT END-TO-END TESTED

01 Course profile

Country, course, intake and estimated cost are documented on /how-it-works.

02 Co-applicant profile

The public guide describes collecting income and occupation details.

03 Lender options

The guide describes indicative terms. /abroad promotes ranked offers.

04 Document upload

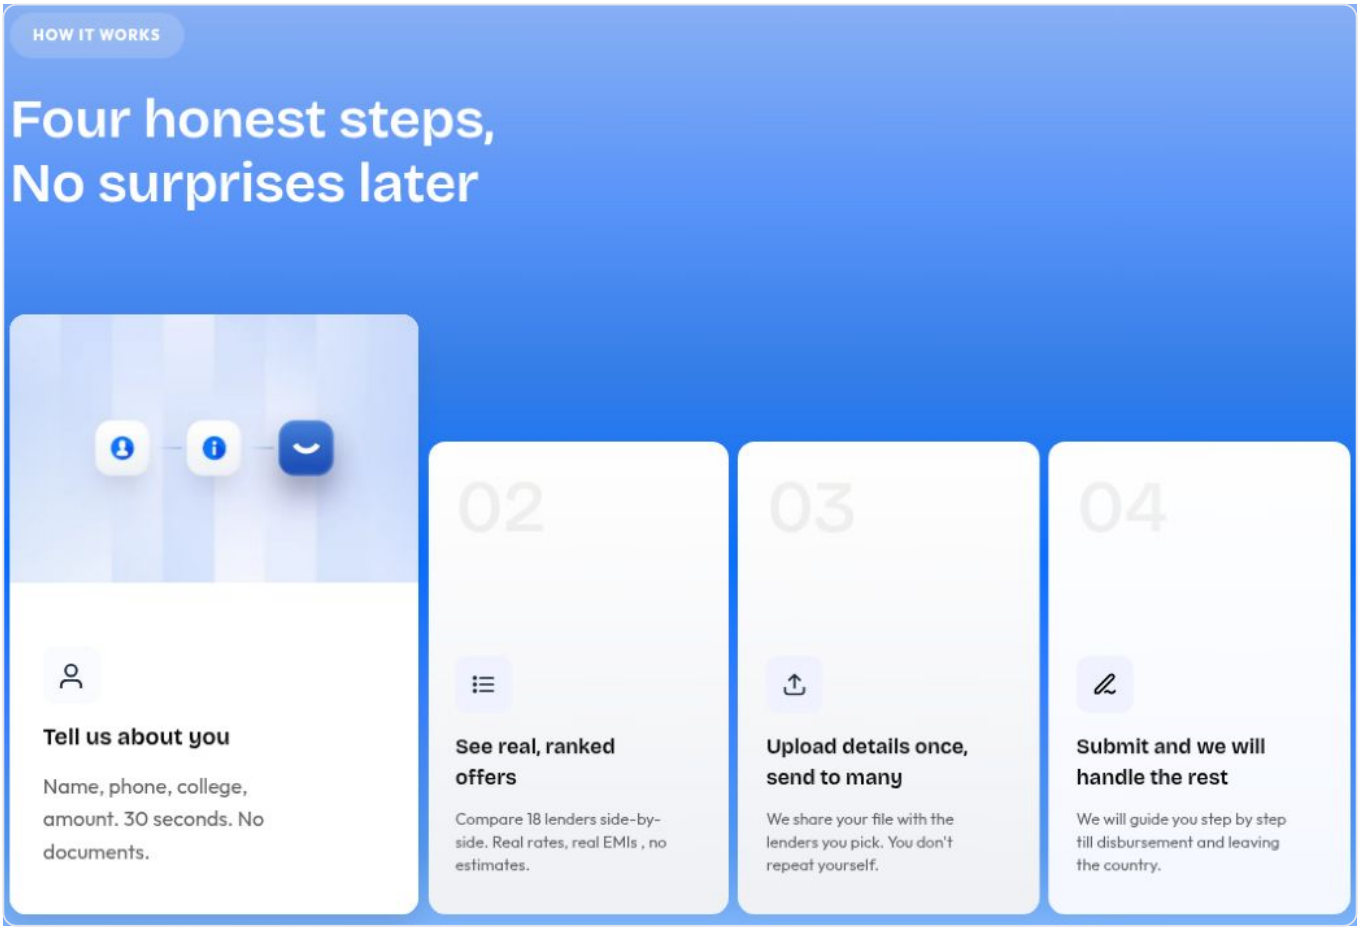

The guide describes uploading once for the chosen lender.

05 Lender review and funding

The lender reviews documents, confirms final terms and funds after approval.

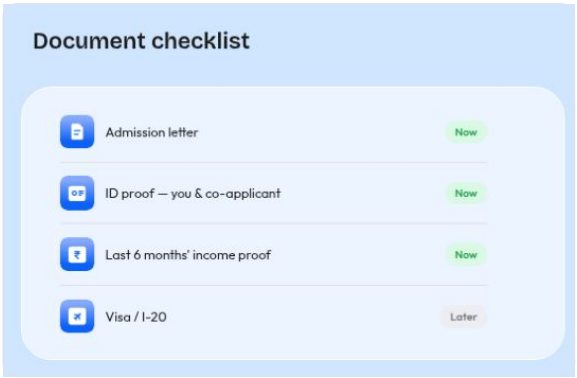

Product capabilities

The public experience combines comparison, loan education and application preparation. Screens below preserve the presentation used on the live site.

LIVE PUBLIC SECTION / The site's four advertised steps; these cards are explanatory, not evidence of completed applications.

READINESS GUIDANCE

Admission, identity and income documents are presented as immediate requirements; visa / I-20 is marked for later.

CAPABILITY EVIDENCE

Loan choice. Separate unsecured and collateral-backed explanations make the financing options easier to distinguish.

Decision support. Comparison is framed around price, EMI and approval likelihood. Lenders confirm final terms.

Application readiness. Document timing and an income-to-EMI rule of thumb help users prepare.

Cost estimation. The public EMI calculator explicitly labels its results as indicative.

Evidence and next inputs

This is a dated portfolio reference. It preserves observable screens, user attribution and website claims as separate kinds of evidence.
